CHARLESTOWN HIGH SCHOOL

Charlestown, Massachusetts

THE BATTLE OF BUNKER HILL

FOREWORD

As our high school days draw rapidly to a close and we begin to take on an air of adulthood that will help us adapt ourselves to society, let us not forget the fact that our school has supplied us with the background that will enable us to do so. The society that we are about to enter is dependent upon us as its future citizens. We will try to live up to all the hopes and expectations of those who have aided us through the sheltered part of our lives. As we take our places in the adult world, we are somewhat apprehensive. We realize that here is the test; can we pass it? But the consciousness that our school has trained us well helps to still their apprehension. We shall always remember with nostalgia the happy days we have spent at Charlestown High School. This, our Yearbook, will keep alive those pleasant memories as we reread its pages in years to come. May it also stand as a reminder to the school we leave behind of the Class of 1957.

FACULTY

OUR HEAD MASTER

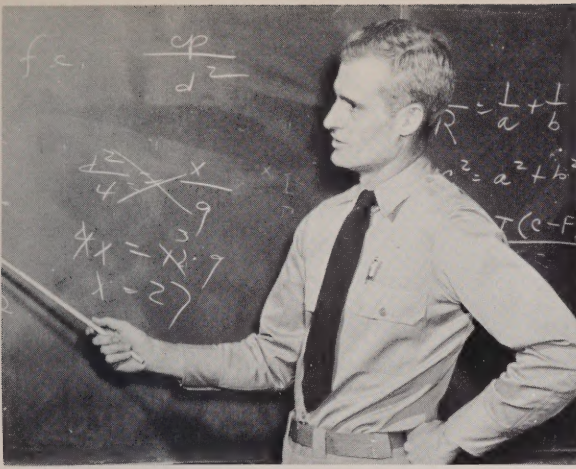

LOUIS R. WELCH, Head Master

To the Class of 1957

The members of the faculty join me in congratulating you on your graduation from Charlestown High School. Many of you have made us very proud of your athletic accomplishments; many have given us great satisfaction in your scholastic records; still more of you have pleased us because we have seen you grow from children into mature young people of character and integrity. May the lessons, experiences, and friendships of your years at Charlestown High School be a foundation for years of further learning and growth. To all of you go our best wishes for a successful, happy, and good life.

Sincerely yours,
Louis R. Welch

THE LEADERS OF OUR SENIOR YEAR

Our senior officers, in order as they descend the stairs, President Dom Campochiaro, Secretary Barbara Fisher, Treasurer Ann Marie Power, and Vice-President Arthur Sullivan, led us through one of the best years any senior class has ever enjoyed. We thank them all for being such dynamic, efficient, and amiable leaders, and for giving us all such a successful year.

To the left is the Prom Committee, Helen Britton, Sandra Smith, Marie Grace, Harry Maggiacomo, Robert Zarella, and Dom Campochiaro, who planned our wonderful Prom with Mr. Welch, sold us tickets, took care of money and details, and decorated Longwood Towers so beautifully for the memorable night of May 24, 1957.

And on the right we have the Social Committee, composed of Eleanor Riley, Ann Marie Power, Rita Giordano, Phyllis Conte, Arthur Sullivan, Paul Tkaczuk, Tim Beasley, George Lord, Harry Maggiacomo, Charles Veneziano, Robert Zarella, Helen Britton, Barbara Fisher, Paul Gagnon, and Dom Campochiaro. They planned and carried out our dance, skating party, show, and outing, and all in all did a wonderful job.

The task of preparing and producing a book is never an easy one. There is required a great deal of work, an immense amount of attention to detail, and a need for imaginative, painstaking skill. The staff of the Yearbook found out the foregoing truths with somewhat of a shock, but still managed to have a lot of fun and to enjoy getting the Yearbook ready for the Class of 1957. It was no joke, getting up in time for those eight-fifteen meetings. The faculty adviser turned out to be very fussy, almost to the point of being crabby, about quotation marks and commas. The class seemed to be a small one, and yet it was astonishing how many elusive people there were in the class, how hard it was to dig out information (and original ideas!) for writeups, and how difficult some people proved to be about getting their pictures taken. At any rate, somehow the work was done. Now all the staff can do is hope that everyone in the class likes the book. (Editorial comment: How could they HELP liking it?) This year's book is bigger (particularly considering the size of the class) and better than ever. Everyone who so wished has his name printed in gold letters on the cover. The cover itself is a dream of artistry. Furthermore, this year, for the first time, underclassmen may buy the book in a paper binding for an amazingly low price. And so now, the whole staff breathes a sigh of relief as it proudly presents THE YEAR BOOK FOR 1957.

ORGANIZATIONS

HERE AND THERE AROUND CHARLESTOWN

OUR ELECTRICIANS IN THE SPENCER

to the Graduates of 1957

You have graduated from the Part-time Co-operative Electrical Industrial Course at Charlestown High School. You have graduated from a vocational school which has high standards of scholarship in the field of Vocational Education. Rarely do our graduates have to work very long at their tools. Most of our graduates soon find themselves in the capacity of foreman, head of department, or administrator; many run their own electrical businesses; others take up the profession of teaching.

Mr. Paul Goodwin, Supervisor of Apprentices, Local 103 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and also a graduate of our Co-operative Electrical Course, spoke to us this year on the function of the Electrical Union, the purpose of the establishment of the Union Apprentice School, and the procedure to be followed in applying to join the Electrical Union.

Within the electrical industry, one finds many specific divisions of electrical work, most of which are apprenticeable. These may require 4000 hours or more of shop work for their fulfillment, with an additional 144 hours per year of instruction in electrical drafting, electrical mathematics, and electrical science. Some of these divisions are the following: Bus electricians (Construction); Electrician (Outside work); Lineman; Maintenance of electrical machinery; Power house electrician; Radio electrician; Repairer and armature winder; Ship electrician; Sign electrician; Signal system electrician; Electrical draftsman; and Electrical instrument worker. The above are all recognized and tabulated in the National Apprenticeship Program.

So, dear graduates, the school has given you adequate schooling in theory and practical instruction so that you may very comfortably enter a bonafide apprenticeship to further your working capability, increase your technical knowledge, and successfully pursue your struggle to find your niche in life.

Mr. Tucker, Manager of the Tucker Electric Company of Randolph, spoke to us on the harmonious relationship that should exist between students and employers. He described to us some of the good qualities, (such as personality, enthusiasm, reliability, punctuality, and interest), that students should cultivate to succeed in the electrical industry.

Commander J. J. Leahy, U.S.N.R., Commanding Officer of one of the Local Construction Battalion Divisions, gave us a very inspiring talk on the various trades existing in the Corps. He showed us some excellent and instructive films dealing with the latest trade processes. He stressed the electrical trade and very capably indicated its usefulness to the U.S. Navy in a general way.

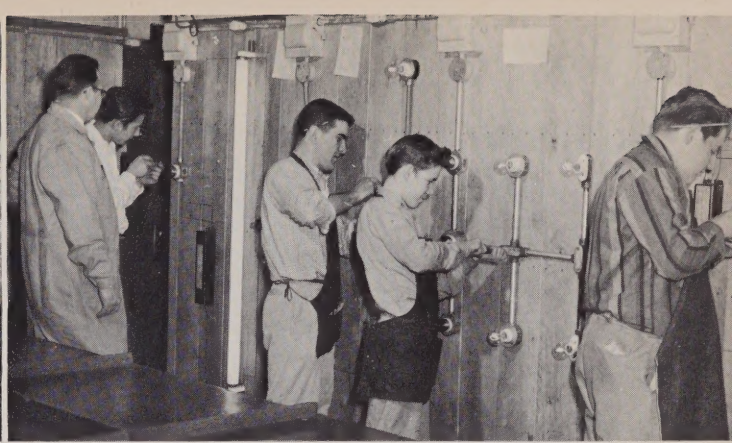

One half of the group of shop students paid a visit to the Boston Museum of Science. This trip was worth while because there were many experiments, special machinery such as the Sperry Gyro Compass, and other marine appliances that were interesting and educational to our students.

We were honored to be visited by four gentlemen from industry, managers and personnel officials from the Blue Cross-Blue Shield, the Shawmut National Bank, the New England Telephone Company, and the Boston and Maine Railroad. They visited our high school, saw our school electrical shops, and ended their tour with a visit to the Electronics Department of the Boston Naval Shipyard, where many of our graduates are employed. They were very much impressed with our shops and felt that we are making excellent progress, - a progress that prepares our students for full-time employment in the electrical vocation of their choice.

Yours sincerely,
EDWARD B. FLAHERTY
Coordinator

MAIN DYNAMO SHOP: Juniors phasing out windings of a three-phase Y-connected induction motor in the senior motor shop. Students learn how to use meters as part of the testing procedure.

CONDUIT and E.M.T. SHOP: Typical jobs being handled by the boys on fluorescent lighting circuits, rigid metal conduit, and electrical metallic tubing installation.

ARMORED CABLE and NON-METALLIC SHEATH CABLE SHOP: Students putting theory to work on simple wiring jobs involving controlling lights from three or more locations.

MAIN DYNAMO SHOP: Juniors testing starting and running voltage of a three-phase compensator under supervision of a senior student. Their next step will be to use a compensator to start a three-phase induction motor.

ELEMENTARY ELECTRONICS: Members of the Industrial Electronics Class using test instruments on commercially- and shop-made equipment. The test determines the operation and efficiency of the device.

Busy sophomores learning the fundamentals of surface metal raceway installation under the watchful eye of an experienced tradesman. This experience will ready boys for work in industry next year.

CHARLESTOWN'S PRIZE-WINNING REGIMENT

The Charlestown High School Regiment, under the direction of Major James M. Stewart, brought great honor to the school by winning first prize in its division of the Annual Schoolboy Parade. Not only did Charlestown win in its class, but also the regiment outscored the winners of the other two divisions. In short, the Charlestown regiment had the highest number of points of any school competing in the Parade. We are all very proud of Major Stewart and of his boys. At the annual Prize Drill, held at the Charlestown Armory, the Second Company, with Captain Paul J. Gagnon, won first prize. A list of this year's officers follows:

Here are the senior members of our Glee Club. They carol sweetly at Christmas and at Graduation, and they form the nucleus for any choruses which we assemble for other occasions. Janice Maraghy, Alice Marchetta, Catherine Houghton, Rita Giordano, Jacqueline Collins, Carol Semonian, Cecilia McPartlan, Jeanette Campagna, Ann Gillis, Ellen Power, Brenda Keenan, Sally Olsson, and Patricia Henderson at the piano.

The day the CHIP comes out is one day that teachers have trouble getting attention. Everyone reads it! Here are the girls who assemble the news, write the stories, and type, mimeograph, and sell the CHIP: Patricia Henderson, Catherine Hoppe, Martha Sutherland, Alice Marchetta, Sally Olsson (seated) and Judith Heelen, Josephine Murphy, Ellen Kelly, Ann Power, Carol Semonian, Marie Grace, Sandra Smith, Phyllis Conte, (standing).

The Student Exchange group, composed of Harry Maggiacomo, John Duggan, Lawrence Bell, Jacqueline Agra, and Kathleen Barrett, with Mr. Goorvich, were entertained for one whole day by Rockland High School and the town of Rockland. Later we entertained exchange students from Rockland here in historic Charlestown.

The students here pictured received one of the highest honors at Charlestown High School, that of election to the National Honor Society. They are (seated) Phyllis Conte, Jacqueline Collins, Joan Ryan, Josephine Murphy, (standing) Janice Beals, Arthur Sullivan, Robert Keeley, Barbara Fisher, and (not pictured) Kathleen Barrett and Patrick Porio.

The Junior Red Cross representatives of the school this year elected these girls as their officers: Patricia Henderson, Secretary, Elaine Kearns, Representative to Council, Jacqueline Agra, President (seated) and Catherine Hoppe, Treasurer, Rita Giordano, Vice-President (standing).

ATHLETICS

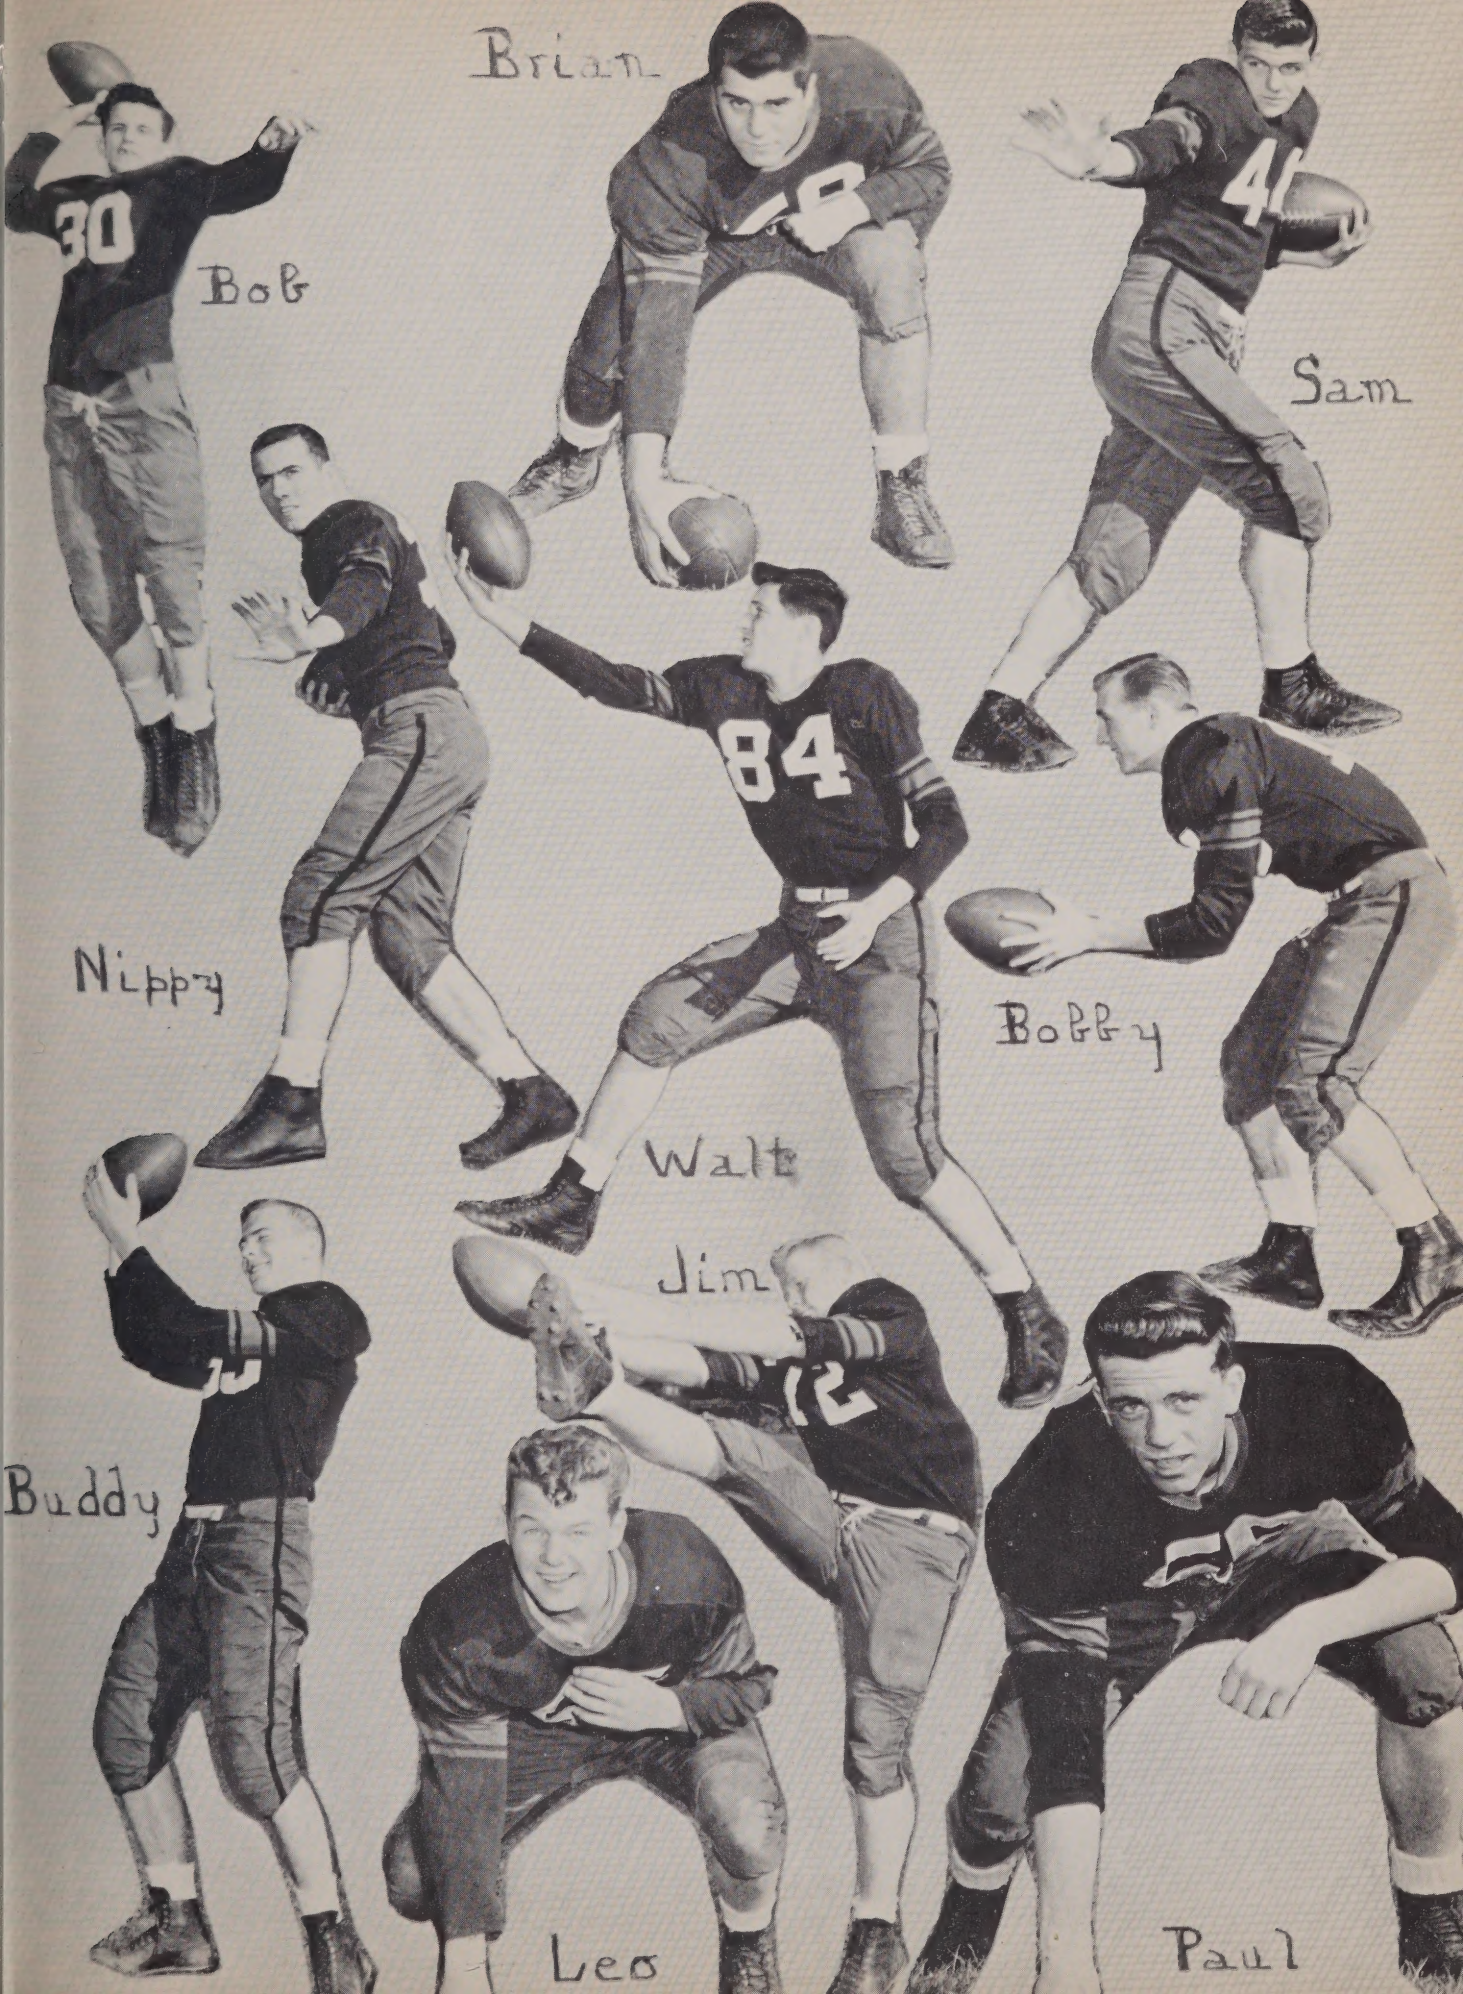

FOOTBALL—A REAL TEAM

FIRST ROW: A. Sullivan, R. Tryder, L. Martin, R. Dole, W. Nolan, J. Mitchell, J. Hoey, W. Batchelder, J. Hueston, M. Gillen, A. McLaughlin, B. McNeil. SECOND ROW: J. Gass, Coach Keating, J. Doherty, W. Russ, F. Hamilton, W. Lordan, D. Flanagan, L. Taylor, D. McLaughlin, F. Dolaher, J. Sullivan, P. Natola, C. Strickland, J. Fidler, S. Brown, R. Maguire, Coach Power. THIRD ROW: R. Lyman, T. Doherty, F. Johnson, J. McGlinchey, M. Scanlon, W. Gronberg, B. Frederickson, W. Mullen, P. Considine, P. Doherty, D. Scannell, J. Donovan, R. Tyminski.

This year's football team started out with a real disadvantage. They followed the greatest team in Charlestown's history, the Class D Champions of 1955, and they had lost their big stars through graduation. They were defending champions, and they were the team to beat. The start of the season was disappointing, but then the team went on to pile up the very creditable record of five wins and three losses. The highlight of the season was the Roslindale game, which furnished, according to many observers, the most exciting finish to a game ever seen in White Stadium. No one will ever forget the famous Tryder-to-Batchelder pass, in the very last seconds of play, which gave us a 19-14 victory. Paul Tucker and Jim Hoey, the Co-captains, along with other seniors Bill Nolan, Walt Batchelder, Arthur Sullivan, Bob Tryder, Leo Martin, Joe Burns, and Bob Dole, played consistently good, fighting ball all season. The underclass standouts were Sam Hueston and Brian McNeil. All in all, it was a team notable for spirit, fight, and team play.

Our Valiant Varsity

Again our basketball team had a good season. Its record in the District League of eight wins and four losses was the same as last year's memorable team, and it would have been eligible for the Tech Tournament except for the loss to Lynn Trade, outside the league. Four seniors played this year. Harry Maggiacomo captained, played as guard, and performed steadily all season. High scorer and top rebounder was Walter Batchelder, who developed into a fine driver. Joe Bradley was next in scoring and rebounding and looked particularly good on his jump shots from the top of the key. Dom Campochiaro was the diminutive spark plug in the backcourt, hustling all the time. Our juniors, who are to take over next year, are Mike Papisodoro, a fast, hard-driving back-court man, one of this year's starters; Tom Noseworthy, an exceptionally fine dribbler and driver; and Mike Scanlon and Joe Lento, who have good potential ability to help us in '58. The squad was fortunate in its fine crop of sophomores, who make the future look bright: Tony Gaeta, Joe Holmes, Phil Tyrell, and Paul O'Brien. Next year -- The Tech Tournament!

BASKETBALL STILL IS GREAT IN C. H. S.

Our Fighting Future Champs

TRACK AND CROSS COUNTRY

Charlestown High School is rapidly becoming the School of Champions. Both the indoor and outdoor track teams and the cross-country team, under the able coaching of Mr. Edward Grant, (who took over when Mr. Meagher left us last year), and doing their part to bring that name to the school. This year Charlestown won the Outdoor District Championship and the Cross-Country District Championship. The Outdoor team placed third in the University of Massachusetts relays, finishing with 13 points to the winners' 18. The shot-put team of Bill Nolan, Jim Hoey, and Bill Mullen, and the Medley relay team (Bill Nolan, Don Desmond, Dick Auffrey, and David Gibbons), won first places; the 440 relay team (Nolan, Auffrey, Dave Showstead, and Stan Brown) took second. At the State Relays held at Belmont, our boys won first place. Charlestown placed third in the Indoor State Meet, fourth in the Indoor District, and fifth in the Indoor Reggies.

Individual winners are the following: Dave Gibbons, District Cross-country champion, State 600 Indoor champion, District and Reggie Indoor 1000 champion, District and Reggie 880 champion, State Outdoor half-mile champion; Bill Nolan, State Shotput champion, State Outdoor 100-yard champion, District Indoor and Outdoor Shotput champion, District Outdoor 220 champion; Stan Brown, District 100-yard champion; Don Desmond, District Mile champion; Phil Tyrrell, winner of Regimental Class B javelin; Bill Mullen, winner of Class B Discus; Dick Auffrey, winner of Class C 100-yard dash. In the Outdoor Reggies, Gibbons won the Class A 880 and Nolan the Class A 100. Both Gibbons and Nolan have been named to the All-Star New England track team.

Dave Gibbons, holder of more titles than he can count. Dave had the great honor of being the first Charlestown boy ever to be invited to the National Interscholastic Championships, held in Madison Square Garden, New York.

Bill Nolan winning the District 300, in a spectacular finish.

CHARLESTOWN—DISTRICT HOCKEY CHAMPIONS

Charlestown's hockey team, led by Captain Arthur Sullivan, had the greatest year in Charlestown's colorful ice history. They were undefeated in League competition and won the distinction of being the first Charlestown team to claim the District title. Underdogs in the Tournament, the team beat North Worcester 10-3, edged Norwood 2-1, and in the quarter-finals played one of the greatest games of the Tournament against heavily-favored Winchester. After an impressive scoreless game, three overtime periods were played, also scoreless. Winchester finally won by one goal in the fourth overtime. In May the citizens of Charlestown honored the team with a testimonial banquet.

Seniors on the team were Captain Sullivan, whose brilliant play, with his powerful slap shot, made him an outstanding figure in Boston hockey; Bob Dole, a star defenseman; and Dan McNamara, a swift-moving wing and one of our most valuable players. There were outstanding underclassmen also: Goalie Gerry Murray, who has made many a spectacular save; Ed Foster, a sensational junior forward; and Davey O'Donnell, who upheld the O'Donnell name by his fight and hustle. Next year's team will have valuable assistance from sophomores Paul Carey, Joe Connors, Jim Sullivan, Ed Kennedy, Don Barrett, John McLaughlin, Fred Locke, and Lonnie O'Neil. The team had exceptionally competent management from Tim Murphy, Ed Flaherty, and Dan Flanagan.

The members of the team attribute their success to their coach, Mr. John A. Tyrell, who by his hard work and patience has brought out the best in his boys. They all have done, in turn, their very best to show their thanks and admiration for such a fine coach and friend.

Foster, O'Donnell, McNamara, and Murray have it all their own way against Norwood.

Bobby Dole in the Tournament game against North Worcester.

Buddy Sullivan showing his usual excellent form against East Boston.

The Great Save in the game against Winchester.

The citizens of Charlestown honor the team at the banquet, May 9, 1957.

CHARLESTOWN'S BASEBALL VARSITY

Our 1957 baseball team finished third in the District League, again compiling a better than .500 record. For the three years that this year's seniors have been in school, the baseball team has had a winning season. Co-captains Harry Maggiacomo and Dom Campochiaro were three-year regulars and were the team's leading batters, hitting .420 and .350 respectively. Harry was honored by being selected for the Boston All-Star team. Arthur Sullivan and Bill Nolan were also senior standouts, the former leading the team in RBI's. Outfielder George Lord and catcher Tom Flynn contributed greatly to the success of the team. Outstanding underclassmen include sophomores Tom Doherty, Tony Gaeta, Joe Connors (.333), Joe Gass, Paul Casey, and juniors Ricky Petrelli and Frank Johnson, who make up that fine battery and who are our co-captains for next year.

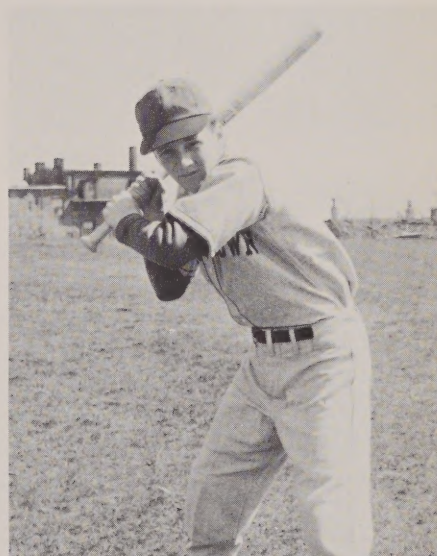

First baseman Arthur Sullivan.

Co-captains Harry Maggiacomo and Dom Campochiao.

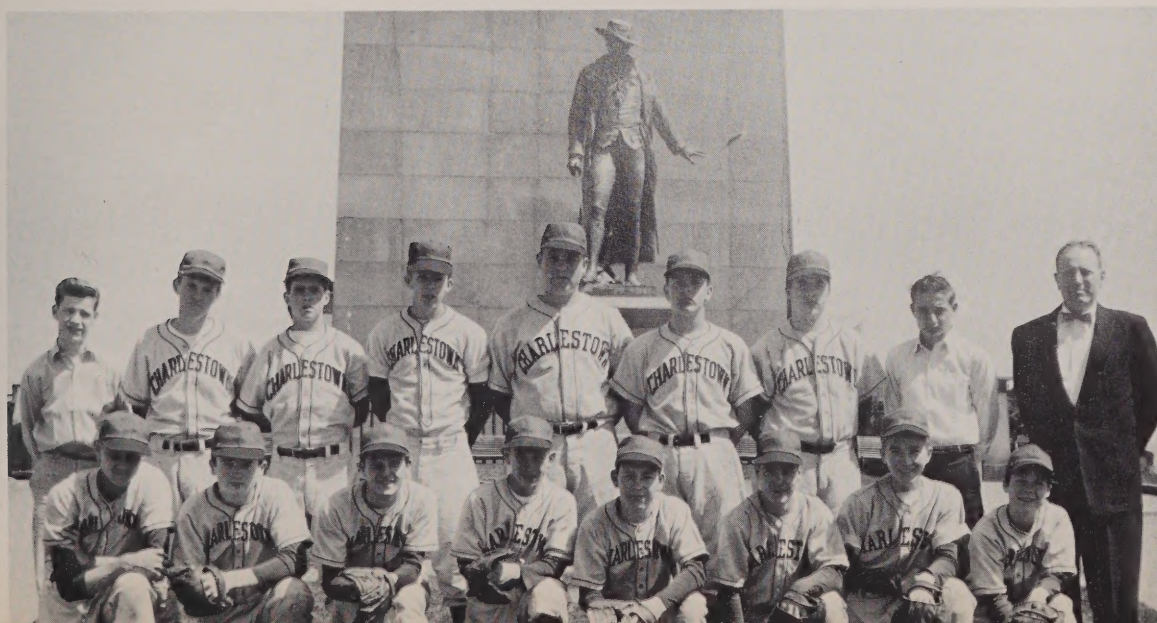

Third baseman Harry Maggiacomo.

Catcher Tom Flynn.

As usual, the cheerleaders were an important and effective part of the sports scene at Charlestown High School this year. They rooted the football team through a good season, went to the Armory on Tuesdays and Fridays to support the basketball team, and yelled themselves hoarse at the Arena, particularly at the Tournament quarter-finals when we played Winthrop. At the banquet given to the hockey team by the people of Charlestown, the girls received sweaters when the boys were given jackets. On Letter Assembly day, each cheerleader was given a little megaphone on a chain to be worn around the neck, a symbol of the school's appreciation for their spirited efforts. In the spring the cheerleaders conducted a rag drive to help pay for new uniforms. Wait till next year! You'll see them in brand-new outfits!
